Goal for IQ as a WGD Ambassador Genius of the Year:

To meet various people through the WGD network. Their thoughts can be special; human thought is always an exciting field. Creative thoughts occur when meeting and interacting with many people's thoughts. In this I need to convey my creative thoughts to the world.

Organisations/Memberships:

Mega Society, Triple Nine Society, World Genius Directory, Mensa International.

Occupation/Professional Goals:

Researcher; Degree in Neuroscience, Psychology, Philosophy, Religion, King's College London, University of London and Korea University, Yonsei University; Vice-President and Executive Director, United Sigma Intelligence Association; Steering Committee Member & Senior Global Strategy Advisor, Complex Biological Systems Alliance; Biotech/Medical Board Advisor, Lifeboat Foundation; Honorary Member, International Longevity Alliance; Advisory Council Member, Tony Buzan's Brain Trust Charity; Senior Advisor, World Memory Championships of Hong Kong; Senior Advisor, Korea Memory Sports Association.

Why work with IQ:

Firstly, I don't think the IQ, itself, is important. What matters is the people gathering under the theme of IQ and the network. I aim to devote myself to all intellectual networks. These networks can contribute to more people in the world. Secondly, IQ is not intended to brag to others. IQs should always be subject to experiments. Therefore, I would like to continue exploring this experimental subject. Thirdly, IQ is also a futuristic thing. Humans are discovering the reality of artificial intelligence. Understanding our IQ is essential to understanding artificial intelligence, for example. For a new world in the future, we do need to pay attention to human intelligence.

Statement for the World:

I hope I can make more intellectual contributions through this award and share a bigger vision and new opportunity to all Earthlings. Awards are always an honor. I am grateful that the WGD members supported me to win this award. To my friend Dr Jason Betts, who runs the WGD, I am also grateful for his dedication. At some point, I hope it turns out to be a real honour for me to receive this award.
